PROSPECTUS.

This company owns by warranty title nearly fourteen thousand acres of mineral lands, situated in the counties of Chatham, Moore, Rockingham and Stokes, on the waters of Deep and Dan Rivers, in North Carolina, which abound in plentiful deposits of coal, copper, iron, salt, and there is every reason to believe from general and surface indications, petroleum or oil.

The services of two practical and efficient men, experienced in boring for oil, and stimulated by a long course of success in Yonago, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, were secured by the company several months since and they are now on the lands, with the requisite force, tools, steam engine and machinery, boring a well with very flattering prospects of success. The organization of this company effected some time since has now been perfected in legal form, by act of incorporation, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $5 each.

By reference to the valuable and laborious reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and Commodore Wilkes, U. S. Navy, every one interested will be enabled to judge of the value of the large area of territory secured by the North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Co.

It is well known that a superior article of bituminous coal is now being mined in the Deep river coal region, where a portion of the lands are situated, and this company owns property known to be equal, if superior to any on which shafts have been sunk. Copper, iron and salt also abound, and the attention of capitalists has already been directed to this section on account of its value for the above minerals.

Below are given a few extracts from the Journals of the U. S. Geological Survey, showing the value of the oil in the "Old North State" as in other States.

Oil has been struck in Overton county, Tennessee, on the north line of the State, the deepest well is only 325 feet, with a fair yield of oil. Some of the other wells have struck oil and gas at from 70 to 100 feet. Much time and money will be expended this summer in the thorough development of the oil resources of Clark county. Men of capital and experience seem confident that oil will be found in large quantities, and are willing to take the risk.

The first company who bored on the land of H. T. R. Young, are now engaged in trying to raise the auger which was lost last fall. The first well on the land of H. T. R. Young, was bored in a few days twelve miles southwest of the first well. The prospect in that locality is good. Chicago Tribune.

It is known that after a few months boring in the vicinity of Lynchburg, a large vein of oil was struck and a productive well is now in successful operation. This is on the same line with and about 30 miles from the company's first well on Dan River, where the indications both general and particular are similar. In order to have sufficient means to develop this valuable property in such a manner as to insure success, the Directors have authorized 10,000 shares of the capital stock to be sold to raise a working capital, and subscriptions for that number or any part thereof will be received.

An uncommonly favorable opportunity for investment is thus afforded, as those who choose to buy stock under this offer will have the advantage of an equal footing with the original corporation in an enterprise which, after the example of the immense profits realized in those of a similar character in other States, though in many respects on less favorable conditions than this, (compare the extent, cheapness and fee simple title of the basis of operations here offered gives reasonable assurance of the most lucrative results. In many instances in sections of less favorable oil localities, shares have advanced in a few days from $2 or $3 to $20 and even $50, and poor men who made small investments realized fortunes.

Further information may be had at the office of the company, one door north of the Court House, Greensboro, N. C., where books of subscription are now open. By order of the Directors.

A. G. BRENZER, Secretary.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Editor.
SEATON GALE, Editor.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 29, 1866.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES,
AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR. JONATHAN WORTH, OF RANDOLPH.

The Radical Constitutional Amendment.

We re-publish, to-day, the official copy of the joint resolution of both Houses of Congress, passed at its late session, proposing to all the States a new article, as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States. It was adopted without being submitted for the approval or disapproval of the President. It is the basis of the vicious programme of measures designed by the Radical party to degrade and punish both the Southern States and people, who were parties in the late revolution. It is the issue that the Radicals make in opposition to the policy of the President, which proposes a complete and early reconciliation with the Southern States under the Constitution of the United States as it is. This proposition of the Radicals will be the chief issue in the canvass in all the State elections to take place in a few weeks, inasmuch as it will be submitted to the approaching Legislatures for their action. It will constitute the principal element in the canvass in this State, and, therefore, the sober and considerate attention of the people cannot too frequently be called to it. We, therefore, ask the candid consideration of our readers to the amendment proposed and to our comments thereupon. We shall notice it topically, and not take up the sections of the article seriatim. This amendment takes from the States the reserved rights secured to them by express provision in the Constitution.

One of the most important attributes or rights of States is the power to determine and define what shall entitle individuals to citizenship. This power, so necessary to the preservation of internal peace and concord and the municipal authority of a State, the Radical Congress asks the States to surrender to the National Government, and fixes, as its measure of citizenship, the simple residence in a State of all persons born or naturalized in the United States. Equally essential, indeed absolutely necessary to its existence as a State, is the right to regulate and define the elective franchise of its citizens. If the internal municipal authority of a State to control or govern within its own borders, preserve the peace, and protect the lives and property and rights of its citizens, be within the province of the State at all, it can only be by the exercise of the inherent right to define and limit the matter of suffrage. But this sacred, inherent and essential right the Radical Congress proposes to take away from the States, even in the election of their own Executive, Judicial and Legislative officers, except when the States shall not deny to any male person twenty-one years of age, residing in the State, the right of suffrage, unless the person so denied shall have been a participant in "rebellion" or other "crime." Even idiots may be reckoned, if negroes are allowed suffrage.

Akin to the inherent right of a State to control and limit the right of suffrage, is the right to define the qualifications of its own officers. But this right, also, the Radical Congress proposes to take away and confer upon the General Government. If these three rights or attributes of a State are surrendered and conferred upon the General Government, will any one show us what rights the States will have left? Where and what will be the reserved rights of the States? Will not such a surrender denude them of all power of right belonging to them? Does it not make them mere dependencies and agents of the National Government, or, more correctly, of the Congress itself? Does it not place the States entirely at the mercy of the Congress, and that, too, when they are unrepresented?

Who supposes that this government ever could have been formed, if the majority had demanded, at the outset, so monstrous a concession on the part of the States? This amendment, of course, is chiefly aimed at the revolting States, with the views of forcing them to adopt universal negro suffrage, but who does not see that it binds every State to the control of Congress? What would prevent, at a future day, under the overpowering influence of a dominant party, inflated with religious phrenzy, Congress from incorporating a religious test in the Constitution, restricting the right of suffrage, or, if needed, forbidding it to Roman Catholics, or Methodists, or Baptists, or any one or two of the principal religious denominations, who might perchance have a majority of the votes in the nation? What security is there in future against the obliteration of all State lines and the consolidation of the whole under one name, under the sole government of the Congress? This amendment is a large stride in that direction. The plea that it is necessary to secure a more perfect Union, to punish treason, and to guard against future rebellion, is only adding insult to injury. It is, moreover, a perversion of the truth. The leaders, from whom the radical party takes its name, have been the most bitter enemies to the Union for years. They long ago declared the Declaration of Independence a lie and a cheat, and the Constitution a league with hell. They did not inaugurate and prosecute the war to restore the Union. It was hated and hateful government which they wished to dissolve and destroy. They prosecuted the war to destroy slavery and to carry out the fanatical schemes of ultra-abolitionism. We speak of the leaders of the Republican party—those who give tone and direction to the masses, many of whom have unwittingly lent their devotion to the Union to the leaders of a professed Union party, who really cared not a hauboe for the Union itself.

Our fathers, in the formation of the government, were exceedingly jealous of the rights of the States and deeply opposed to the concentration of power in the central or Federal government. Have their sons so degenerated, that they are ready to merge all power in the Federal government or in the Congress? Can life-long Democrats or Whigs so entirely ignore all their former principles, that they are ready to surrender what has been justly termed, in former days, "the best government in the world," for an untried experiment in this country under a consolidated government, which must occasion constant friction, promote perpetual bickerings and revolutions, and terminate, ultimately, in a central military despotism or an absolute or limited monarchy? Are the people of the United States ready for this? More anon.

"Resentment of injustice is always and everywhere essential to freedom; and the spirit which prompts the States and the people lately in insurrection, but insurgent now no longer, to protest against the imposition of unjust and degrading conditions, makes them all the more worthy to share in the government of a free commonwealth, and gives still firmer assurance of the future power and freedom of the Republic."

Even if there were not a great deal else in the able and patriotic Address of the late Philadelphia Convention to entitle it to Southern endorsement, the foregoing paragraph is sufficient, of itself, to commend it to our approval. Within the compass of less than a dozen lines, it embraces four distinct propositions, eloquently enunciated, each of which is equally just, generous and complimentary to our feelings, our purposes and our sectional amour propre. We have, first, the expression of a conviction that our acquiescence in the verdict of arms is real, honest and sincere. We are lauded for protesting, in a bold and manly manner, against the abject and degrading conditions which are sought to be fastened upon us by a vile and infamous faction, to whom magnanimity is as foreign as refinement is to a California Root-Digger. We are assured that our strong and earnest resentment of wrong and injustice is an additional evidence of our worthiness to share in the government of the country; and finally we are complimented with the declaration that through our instrumentality, to a great extent, is to be accomplished the great destiny which awaits the country, in the future, it not destroyed by Radical misrule.

Such an unqualified tribute to our integrity, manhood and character, one would suppose, ought to be sufficient to disarm a minute and searching criticism into the mere verbiage of other portions of the Address, and surely may be pleaded as a set-off to an occasional distastefulness of phraseology. But when, in addition to such generous allusions, the most momentous and vital principles are conceded and asserted, upon the success of which depends our all of hope, liberty and security, as individuals and as a community, we confess to an exceeding surprise at the querulousness, on immaterial and abstract points, of some few of our contemporaries. We are far from impeaching their motives. We only think that their zeal, though perfectly honest and true, has nevertheless greatly outrun their discretion. It would savor to us of captiousness, did we not know that they yield to the great objects sought to be accomplished by the Convention their most cordial assent.

We declare, for ourselves, that the offer we read, and the closer we study, this Address, the more thoroughly are we persuaded that it presents a platform upon which every Southern man can stand without the slightest derogation. We are satisfied that the unwritten history of the Convention, if we had it in all its details, would still further commend its action to our admiration. It is probably true, as intimated in several quarters, that the Southern delegates were offered a carte blanche to amend the address in any particular, not positively essential, that their inclinations might suggest. This was a mark of confidence which our representatives would have gladly abused, had they exhibited a complaining or censorious or hypocritical spirit, by which the document might have been stripped of its acceptability at the North. It is there, at last, that the issue for our rights must be joined; and it would have been foolish in the extreme, for the mere gratification of a sentiment, to have weakened the hands or spiked the guns of those patriotic men, who are about to deliver battle for our Constitutional rights and privileges. Hence it is that we spurn the ungenerous suggestion, that any Southern delegate in that great Convention, and especially any delegate from North Carolina, acted an unworthy or a truckling part.

THE NEWBORN TIMES understands very well what we mean by applying the epithet "Traitors' Convention" to the sneak concern that is to meet in Philadelphia on the 3rd. The men who affiliate with that movement are traitors, conscious traitors, to the Constitution and to the true principles of the government. If the Times really approves that Convention, as its more recent course would seem to indicate, it feels what we mean.

At one time, since its adjournment, the Times rather appeared to endorse the action of the National Union Convention. Now it winks at the "Southern Loyalists," so called. To borrow an idea, it is a sort of political boomerang. It shoots around corners and lets fly generally in every direction. No one can tell, from its eccentric gyrations, at what particular point it is aiming or exactly where it will hit.

A LARGE MASS MEETING of citizens favorable to the President's policy of restoration assembled in Washington on Saturday night last. It was one of the largest and most enthusiastic assemblies ever known in the Capital. Philip R. Fendall was elected President, and the organization was completed by the election of a long list of Vice Presidents and Secretaries, and the appointment of a committee on resolutions. Speeches were made by General Rousseau, of Kentucky; General Durbin Ward, of Ohio, and others. Resolutions were adopted affirming and approving the declaration of principles set forth by the Philadelphia Convention, and endorsing the President's policy.

The October Elections.

By an error of the types, or through our own inadvertence, we stated, on yesterday, that the October elections would take place on the third Monday, or 18th, of that month. The day of the month was correctly given, but the day of the week improperly. The elections will come off on the third Thursday.

Our attention was called to the mistake by the following prompt communication from the Secretary of State:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
RALEIGH, Aug. 29th, 1866.

EDITORS SENTINEL.—I notice in your article of yesterday, on "The October Elections," you state that "the elections for Governor, &c., will be held on the 3rd Monday of October."

I address you this note in order to correct you as to the day the elections will be held. The ordinance changing the time of the elections in this State, changes it from the first Thursday in August to the third Thursday in October.

You were correct as to the date, "the 18th of the month," and all future elections for State officers will be held the third Thursday in October, unless changed in the future by the Legislature or a Convention.

I am, very respectfully,
Your ob't. serv't.,
R. W. HEST,
Secretary of State.

THUS FAR the President's tour has been one continued ovation. Andrew Johnson's noble efforts to save and restore the government of our fathers, and to preserve the Constitution as it is, have enlisted him in the hearts of the masses. The demonstrations of enthusiasm, with which his presence is greeted, are the harbingers, we hope, of the popular storm which is to sweep Radicalism from the councils of the country.

The Howard Constitutional Amendment.

JOINT RESOLUTION,
PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of both Houses concurring.) That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitution, namely:

ARTICLE 14.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President or Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker House of Rep.
LAFAYETTE S. POSTER,
Pres. Senate, pro tem.

Attest:
EDWARD McPHERSON,
Clerk House of Rep.
J. W. FORTY,
Secretary of Senate.

MAJ. GEN. JOSEPH WHEELER of the Confederate army is writing a history of so much of the late war as relates to his own command and those who were associated with it. This is right. The adherents of the Confederacy ought to remember that most of their official records have either been destroyed, or are in possession of their enemy, and that consequently the Confederate side of the story can only be made known through the writings of those who directed its armies or Government, and that unless their story be well and fully told by these, the history of the war will be as false as histories generally are.

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, August 25.—An attempt was made this morning by G. W. Wood, United States tax collector, to kill Col. M. C. Galloway, editor of the Avalanche. Mr. Wood called Galloway out of his room and fired upon him, the ball passing through the latter's hand, inflicting a painful wound. Wood attempted to escape, but was pursued and captured. An excited crowd soon gathered, and would have hung him to a lamp-post but for General Forrest, who took care of him, and told the crowd that justice should be meted out to him; but for the present he would protect him. Wood is under arrest.

A mass meeting in Memphis, on Saturday last, ratified the proceedings and principles of the Philadelphia Convention. General Forrest made a speech, in which he said that he wanted no more fighting, and was willing to trust those whom he had met upon the field of the battle.

GENERAL NEWS.

The St. Louis Democrat says that the Radicals of Pennsylvania are "proposing" to put Thad. Stevens into Senator Cowan's place in the United States Senate next Winter. There is a homely proverb about man's "proposing," etc., that the Radicals would do well to take into consideration. Unless appearances err, Thad. Stevens' time has come, and with it that of Pennsylvania Radicalism.

The rapid spread of gambling in New York city is the subject of an article in Sunday's Herald. It is therein estimated, after patient research, that there are over two thousand places where games of chance are played for money in that city; and, although the law against the crime is stringent, the devotees of the "green cloth" ply their avocation with but small fear of interruption.

Ever since the great shower of meteors in November 1833, which took everybody by surprise, the serpens and all,—there have been persons who knew all about it, and have seen meteoric showers every succeeding year. These are predicting that we shall have a grand display in the coming November,—something, like that of 1833. May be so.

A justice of the peace in Grant township, Indiana county, recently issued a summons against a man who had just died. The constable of the township took the summons to the house, lifted the sheet which covered the corpse, and against the protest of the afflicted widow, actually read the summons as though the man were alive. He alleged that he must do so in order to comply with the law.

The Expected Release of Mr. Davis.

FORTRESS MONROE, August 26.—The impression steadily gains ground here that Jeff. Davis will soon be released from his long imprisonment. This impression, however, is not produced by any action that has as yet been taken by the Government that could be construed as a preliminary to his release, but it is merely the result of a frequent expression of opinion to this effect by those naturally supposed to be most competent to do so, as being cognizant of the probability of such an event soon transpiring.

It is well known that strenuous efforts have lately been made in Washington, and interviews have been sought with President Johnson over and over again, though in a more quiet manner than formerly, by Charles O. Connor and many other warm friends of Mr. Davis, for the purpose of making a final effort to secure his conditional parole upon the grounds of his continuing ill health. The pressure which has thus been brought to bear upon President Johnson, and the inspiration and confidence he is supposed to receive through the proceedings of the late Philadelphia Convention, it is generally thought, has at last forced him to yield, and that he will shortly grant Jeff. Davis a parole on nearly the same conditions prescribed to Clement C. Clay.

In fact this is the prevailing opinion here, and many have remarked, by way of corroboration, that Mrs. Davis has appeared more cheerful since her sudden return from Canada than was ever before noticed in her usually desponding countenance.

Upon whatever grounds Jeff. Davis may be released, it may be considered indisputable, upon the authority of his physician and medical adviser, that his health is not, by any means, in that precarious state that his friends have so frequently represented.

A New and Grand Epoch in Medicine!

DR. MAGGIEU is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantities, whose vast internal doses subdue the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most violent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggieu's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the so-called remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggieu's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggieu's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disintegrating power of Maggieu's Salve. In fact, it is announced that Maggieu's Pills, Sympies and Diarrhoea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chafes, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin, Maggieu's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. M. MOORE, 11 Pine St., New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box.

THE SENTINEL.
Wednesday Evening, Aug. 29, 1906.
CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

New Advertisements.—It will be seen that Messrs. E. J. Hale & Son, whose removal from the State we had occasion to regret some days since, have located at 496 Broadway, New York, and established themselves as Publishers, Booksellers and Stationers. We need not commend these gentlemen to a North Carolina public. They will, as they should, monopolize the trade of this State. We are sincerely gratified to learn, from an entirely authentic source, that they commence their new business with the most flattering prospects.

A Virginia lady, of eminent qualifications, desires a situation, as a teacher in a school or private family. See advertisement.

The Directors of the Work House, ordered by the late County Court, desire to purchase a tract of land upon which good brick-clay can be found.

The Governor offers $400 reward for the apprehension and delivery, to the Sheriff of Wake, of Joseph Sugg, fugitive from justice, who stands charged with the murder of the late W. L. Port, of this city.

M. Rosenbaum, No. 16, Fayetteville street, makes an attractive announcement to the public. His stock has been selected with taste and discrimination, and he has everything on hand that is necessary for the season.

We return our acknowledgments to the Principal of the Pittsboro Scientific Academy, an excellent and flourishing institution, for an invitation to be present at its First Annual Commencement, the exercises of which begin to-day, and conclude on Friday. The sermon on the occasion will be preached by Rev. W. H. Bobbitt, and the Literary Address delivered by Prof. W. J. Martin. The whole occasion will be wound up by a social entertainment and a display of fire-works.

THE TOURNAMENT AND BALL AT JONES SPRINGS.—The great match Tournament at Jones' White Sulphur Springs, followed by a Ball in the evening, will positively take place on Tuesday, the 4th of September, instead of the 31st, inst., as heretofore announced. Maj. Hope, of the Yarbrough House, the enterprising lessee of the Springs, is making the most extensive and liberal arrangements for the occasion. All who know the Major, need no other assurance, than that he is determined the affair shall be a brilliant success.

UP TO TIME.—The Goldsboro News says that the trains on the different roads leading into that place ran with such exactness, as to time, that it is no uncommon thing to see a half dozen men, on the approach of a train, pull out their watches, and if they don't agree with the published schedule time, they change.

THE WILMINGTON JOURNAL says that the health of that city has never been better, during a similar season, than at present.

COTTON.—The prizes offered by Messrs. Mitchell, Allen & Co., and S. T. Jones & Co., of Newbern, for the first bale of new cotton, have been formally awarded to Maj. W. J. Barrett, of Lenoir. The weight of the bale was 435 pounds, and the prizes were a silver cup, on the part of Mitchell & Allen, and $20 in gold and the purchase of the cotton at 36 cents per lb., on the part of Mr. Jones. The triumphant bale was escorted through the principal streets of Newbern, escorted by a band of music!

The first bale raised in Wayne was received in Goldsboro, on Monday afternoon, from the farm of J. K. Miller & Co., and at once forwarded to Messrs. Andrews & Bardin, Wilmington, (who also offer a prize.) by the Southern Express Company, free of charge. It weighs 406 lbs.

The News says that "on Monday morning much of this bale of cotton was standing in the field, unpicked, and before this paper is served to our town readers, it is baled and in the warehouse of Messrs. Andrews & Bardin, in Wilmington."

CALL FOR MR. HENRY.—At a political meeting the speakers and audience were very much annoyed by a man who constantly called for "Mr. Henry! Mr. Henry! Mr. Henry! I call for Mr. Henry!"

After several interruptions of this kind at each speech, a young man ascended the platform and was soon arising his eloquence in magnificent style, striking out powerfully in his gestures, when again the old cry was heard for Mr. Henry.

Putting his hands to his mouth, this man called at the top of his voice, "Mr. Henry! Mr. Henry! I call on Mr. Henry to make a speech." The chairman arose and remarked that it would oblige the audience if the gentleman would refrain from any further calling for Mr. Henry, as that gentleman was now speaking.

"Is that Mr. Henry?" said the disturber of the meeting. "Thunder! that can't be Mr. Henry! Why, that's the little cuss that told me to holler!"

Mr. Gough adds that in telling this story to a man who could never be made to see the joke, after studying for some minutes, he asked him: "Well, what did he want him to holler for?"

(This reminds us of an actual occurrence which took place, some years ago, in one of the State political Conventions held in this City.—A certain young gentleman, ambitious of "spreading himself," but fearful that he should not have an opportunity, persuaded, for the "consideration of one shilling," one of our City youths to call him out just after one of the orators had concluded. Faithful to the contract, the recipient of the shilling yelled lustily for Mr. ——. The suggestion was not seconded. The squeaking voice of Billy W. alone was heard, and the otherwise dead silence, calling for Mr. ——. Nothing daunted, however, the latter arose, and commenced a long and pre-written speech, with the remark, that "he found it impossible to resist the unanimous call that had just been made upon him!"

The Official Vote on the Amended Constitution.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Ordinance of the Convention, the vote in the various Counties on the amended Constitution was compared, this morning, in the presence of the Governor, Treasurer, Comptroller and Secretary of State. Haywood is the only County unheard from, and its vote is accordingly rejected. The following is the result, which the Governor will doubtless announce, by Proclamation, forthwith:

INCENDIARISM IN SALISBURY.—An effort was made to fire the residence of Maj. J. C. Turner, in Salisbury, on Monday morning last, but the flames were arrested before much damage was done. The Banner mentions four fires in that town, within a few months past, all of which are directly traceable to incendiaries. It calls upon the citizens and town authorities to be on the alert.

The First Dose Believed.

Wm. Verrell, Esq., Matosca, Va., says, "I was afflicted with the Liver complaint for two years, sometimes so bad that I could not lie upon my left side for one minute, nor could I walk but a short distance without stopping to rest. I tried several kinds of patent medicines but found no relief. I also tried the skill of the most eminent Physicians but still found no relief. I then read of your Pills (THE SOUTHERN LIVER PILLS) and from the first dose I found relief, and continued to mend until I was perfectly cured. I am now a well man."

FIRST EDITION. TELEGRAPHIC.

Our Wednesday Morning Dispatches.

The President's Tour—Enthusiastic Popular Demonstrations.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28, P. M. The President and party left Washington at half-past seven o'clock this morning. At every station persons were congregated to pay their respects, and everywhere the President was received with manifestations of delight.

At Annapolis Junction, Gov. Swan welcomed him to the State of Maryland and accompanied the party to this city. Here they were met by a Committee of 40 citizens, with the Mayor as Chairman, and escorted in open carriages to the Philadelphia Depot. Large crowds were gathered both at the depots and along the streets to get a view of the President, who was greeted with the waving of hats and handkerchiefs and deafening cheers.

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 28, P. M. Here, as at other places on the line of road, the President has been greeted with hearty good feeling and was formally received.

After his brief remarks, by request the President appeared on the platform, when the surging crowd pressed forward and many shook his hand. The car and workshop windows, balconies, etc., were crowded with spectators; and bands of music occasionally played amidst the excitement.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28, P. M. President Johnson arrived here this afternoon and was welcomed by Col. James Page, on behalf of the Merchants and Mechanics irrespective of party, as the Chief Magistrate of the Republic, the chosen protector of their rights and liberties. The speaker said that through him the Union of all the States would be restored, and peace reign as well in fact as in name. The President replied that he knew how to appreciate a reception from the people of Philadelphia. He trusted that peace had come, a permanent peace, and that war had ceased forever. All his efforts had been directed to restore peace and the permanent re-organization of the Government.

His remarks were greeted with great applause, and General Grant was also cheered. The President was then escorted by the military, under Gen. Meade, and by the various civic bodies, to the Continental Hotel, where he subsequently addressed the vast crowd. He will be serenaded at 11 o'clock to-night.

From Hayti. BOSTON, Aug. 28, P. M. Advice from Hayti to the 5th have been received.

A very destructive fire occurred at Cape Haytien on the 26th ult., the damage being estimated at about $700,000. The insurgents had advanced upon Cape Haytien, but were repulsed by the Government troops under Montz. At the last accounts, they were in full retreat to San Domingo.

LONDON, Aug. 28. Jno. The meeting was the largest held of late years, and the interest manifested by the people exceeds any former demonstration in favor of reform since 1832.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28. At the banquet given to the American embassy, the speech of Mr. Fox, in response to a toast, was eminently laudatory of the government of the Czar, and of the system which has bound his subjects so closely to his interests.

FLORENCE, Aug. 28, P. M. Mazzini has refused to accept the amnesty offered by Victor Emanuel, and declines to be a subject of the King on any terms,—preferring exile to such conditions.

Wendell Phillips Denounces the President as a Perjured and Usurping Traitor and Demands his Removal. Wendell Phillips, the leader of leaders of the Radical party, has lately used the following language:

"All we know is that the South organized her forces at that convention. She deployed them into line. Her right rests on Philadelphia, under Weed, Seward, Vallandigham, and Garrett Davis. Her left is encamped at New Orleans, with Mayor Monroe and his butchers for general and staff. The headquarters are at the White House, and the next move will be on the Capitol, holding the Senate and House of Representatives. Our duty is to put there men who will, at every hazard, save the nation, remembering that they stand where the Long Parliament stood in 1649; and though the block and axe in front of the palace may be no fitting measure now, they are bound to find and use some measure fit and efficient to secure their purpose—the deposition of the perjured and usurping traitor. But, alas! the courage and 'thoroughness' which would make that possible would at the same time make it unnecessary. In the presence of a united North, led by courageous men, there would be now, as in 1862, no Rebel Democratic party worth counting.

Some foresee a coup d'etat in the literal sense—a violent move against Congress. We hardly expect that. That is too good to be true. The cunning traitors at Philadelphia do not intend to give the North any such advantage. They see their mistake at Sumter, and have no intention of repeating it. 'The burnt child dreads a painted fire,' says the proverb. Thoroughly whipped in that method, the South will never risk provoking another 1861, if it can possibly be avoided. The move upon Congress—upon what this traitor Accident dares to describe as 'a body called, or which assumes to be, the Congress of the United States'—will be made under legal forms. The trick will be so covered that it will bear a specious argument of constitutionality. Seward belongs to the Barnum, not to the Cromwell class. But whether a blow come from Jefferson Davis's hand, or a trick from the brain of Wm. H. Seward, either will fail in the end. We have no fears for the final result. Justice will triumph. We have God's promise for that. The Jew in Egypt, burdened and crushed, never doubted he should see Canaan. God had promised that. But whether in four years or in forty, or through what perils, none can tell. We, too, shall reach our Canaan! But whether in four years or forty—through what perils—whether as one nation or two—whether all gathered round the temple at Jerusalem, or with one king there, another in Samaria—none can tell."

United States Senator From Texas. NEW ORLEANS, August 25.—Hon. David G. Burnett has been elected United States Senator from Texas.

THE NATIONAL UNION BUSINESS COLLEGE

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Offers superior advantages for a thorough Business Education.

The course of instruction embraces Commission, Importing, Jobbing, Retailing, Bank and other Book-keeping, Commercial Law, Arithmetic, Correspondence, Penmanship and Business Practice.

PENMANSHIP is taught by Henry C. Spencer, the leading authority of this system, and celebrated as the Editor of the "Spencerian Key to Practical Penmanship," adopted by nearly all first class Colleges as the standard of criticism. These facilities are here presented for acquiring this valuable art.

The system of "BUSINESS PRACTICE" originated and successfully taught by the Proprietor, receives his special attention. This is the most valuable part of the course. Here the student applies his theoretical knowledge. He buys and sells representative under, makes out notes, drafts, invoices, &c., deposits College money in the College Bank, and checks it out as his business requires. Becoming, in turn, Retailer, Wholesaler, Forwarder, Banker, he soon acquires a knowledge of business forms, learns to compose and condense the history of every transaction and thinks for himself. He is thus prepared for actual business.

Full scholarship, good for review at any time, with Life Membership in this Union of Colleges, extending to the principal cities, only $45. Books and stationery extra.

For circulars giving full information, for specimens of Penmanship, of the College currency and merchandise.
